

This Weeks 'What's Happening'

A warm welcome back this week to all our returning children and their families only. Just these children will return this week in order for them to settle back into routines after the long summer holidays. Next week new children and their families will start on a staggered basis on their given start date.

Monday 5th September	School is closed today to children as it is a training day for staff. Returning children will start in their new or existing classes tomorrow as specified in your letter. Thank you
Tuesday 7th September	School opens again today for all our returning children only. Our sign of the week is Hello. Watch Lucinda make the actions for the sign at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=H98TVU0GE20
Wednesday 8th September	Our artist in residence Lou Sumray is returning to nursery today. She will be working with the children in blue, yellow and green rooms initially every week on a Wednesday.
Thursday 9th September	This week in the red and purple rooms we will be settling our existing children back into the daily routines and identifying any schematic or repeated patterns of play which they might engage in. As children grow older different schemas start to appear. Some may be fleeting, others last for longer. It's common to notice two or three strong schemas during a child's earliest years. This is what we will be looking to identify as the weeks progress so that we can tailor planning to children's interests, schemas and needs. See the link below for more information on schemas. https://www.familycorner.co.uk/why-does-she-always-do
Friday 10th September	In blue, yellow and green rooms we will be spending time settling back our existing children with reminders of our school routines. We have planned lots of home from home activities in the role play area and small world along with introducing the children to our new transient art environment in the summerhouse outside.
