

This Weeks 'What's Happening'

Don't forget to send your feedback form in by this Friday 14th July. Your feedback is very important to us so that we know when we're doing things right and can plan for areas we need to develop. Thank you.

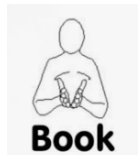

Bin the Bottle Exchange. Don't forget this week you can bring in your child's bottle with a teat, and bin it in in our entrance in exchange for a new free flow drinking cup and a free toothbrushing pack. Did you know that children over one year should no longer use a dummy or bottle with a teat as these can delay your child's speech and negatively affect their oral health.

This week

In red and purple rooms the children have been interested in imaginary play with baby dolls (many children have new babies in their family), so we have set up a baby clinic. This week we will be learning about how they have grown and are not babies anymore, so don't need dummies which can inhibit speech and/or nappies as they learn to toilet train. At home why not try

Can you help me change a nappy activity? activity from Tiny Happy People. Visit <https://www.bbc.co.uk/tiny-happy-people/can-you-help-me-change-nappy/zmxkwtv>

This week

In yellow, green and blue rooms last week the children have been exploring the changes that happen when water is added to sand. To extend this further we will be having a 'beach' outdoors and inside there will be a small world beach to investigate. To find out more see 50 Things To Do Before You're 5 #5 Squidgy Sand, to find out how you can create your own sand pit at home.
